STATUS OF THE PROJECT – BOOKLET AVAILABLE!

The SKILLS REC project aims at elaborating a comprehensive model to allow the Recognition, Validation and Certification of Competencies of previously acquired competences by adults throughout life in non-formal contexts.

The first step towards this aim was the research phase in all partners' countries that lead to the creation of the SKILLS REC BOOKLET, which is now available at: <http://skillsrec.eu/index.php/3d-flip-book/sota-and-users-needs-booklet/>

This document provides information and best practices in the field of Recognition Validation and Certification of Competences in non-formal education contexts collected by the project partners during the first year of the project. These findings represent the base on which SKILLS REC partners will develop the IO2 - Model for the recognition, validation and certification of adults' non-formal skills.

NEXT STEPS

The next face-to-face project meeting is planned for the 31st of May in Ireland, hosted by FIP partner. In the meantime, partners will produce a short version of the Booklet in all partner's languages, and will start working on IO2 "Model for the Recognition, Validation and Certification of adult's non-formal skills", an innovative operational tool for professional use that will provide useful tools ensuring efficiency, effectiveness, sharing and transferability of new methodological approaches. Stay tuned for more news!
